

Three Principles of Learning

1. Repetition - The amount of material that is remembered will depend on how many times the material is studied.
2. Over learning - Additional study after material has been learned will increase the performance when tested at a later time.

3. Meaningfulness - Information is remembered easier if it is meaningful and is able to be related to other ideas and information.

Center for Effective
Parenting

479-751-6166

www.parenting-ed.org

Three Principles of Learning

1. Repetition - The amount of material that is remembered will depend on how many times the material is studied.
2. Over learning - Additional study after material has been learned will increase the performance when tested at a later time.

3. Meaningfulness - Information is remembered easier if it is meaningful and is able to be related to other ideas and information.

Center for Effective
Parenting

479-751-6166

www.parenting-ed.org

Three Principles of Learning

1. Repetition - The amount of material that is remembered will depend on how many times the material is studied.
2. Over learning - Additional study after material has been learned will increase the performance when tested at a later time.

3. Meaningfulness - Information is remembered easier if it is meaningful and is able to be related to other ideas and information.

Center for Effective
Parenting

479-751-6166

www.parenting-ed.org

