

Content Processing

(Video or Live Presentation)

Part I

Before hearing the presentation or seeing the video, you might say a word to the group underlining the significance of the topic and alerting them to note things of interest to share afterward in a guided discussion.

1. When you hear or see the word(s) _____ what do you think about?
2. What do you know about it?
3. What would you like to know about it?

Part II

After the video or presentation:

1. What words or phrases do you recall from the presentation?
2. What were some of the key ideas or main points in the presentation?
3. Where did you get interested or intrigued? Where were you surprised?
4. What points seemed difficult to grasp? With which ideas did you struggle?
5. What aspects of the material made sense to you out of your own experience.
6. Looking at this presentation as a whole, what are some of the most important messages communicated?
7. What are some questions this has sparked in your mind.
8. Who else needs to hear or see this presentation?
9. What are some of the implications for us?